

My wonderful wife just moved from my house to God's house. She was one strong lady that fought this horrible disease until her frail little body finally gave out. We couldn't have made it without our countless friends and your prayers. I hope I can thank each of you personally in the days to come. When I know more, I will let you know.
God bless you, Wayne

Wayne Glasson recently took his beautiful wife home from the hospital to be cared for by hospice. Mary Jo had fought the good fight against the ravages of cancer, but one all too often fails to win that fight in the long run. So today we are sending our condolences and prayers to our friend, Wayne. Please join me in those expressions with faith for Wayne's strength in this time of sorrow.

Photo: Mary Jo Glasson in better days.

Written by Billy Mata, July 20, 2015: Mary Jo Glasson - went home to be with our Lord and savior today. If there was a definition of the perfect musicians wife, it would be her. As far a person goes, there's not a soul out there that can say one bad thing about this woman. She was everyone's friend and if you were in need, she would be first in line to help. We're gonna miss her so and I ask for prayers for her and her family, especially Wayne. She was and always will be his everything. God bless you my brother. went home to be with our Lord and savior today. If there was a definition of the perfect musician's wife, it would be her. As far a person goes, there's not a soul out there that can say one bad thing about this woman. She was everyone's friend and if you were in need, she would be first in line to help. We're gonna miss her so and I ask for prayers for her and her family, especially Wayne. She was and always will be his everything. God bless you my brother.

Mary Jo was a former E-Systems Credit Union employee as well.
The services were Tuesday/Wednesday.

